RESULT CORN MARKET TEST

Proves Very Interesting Reading to Those Interested in Its Culture.

[By G. S. Nuding, Sec'y Mercer County
Corn Growers' Association.]

There were a number of farmers who, much interested in the corn variety test, met at the Mayor's office last Saturday afternoon to hear the result of the test. Owing to the fact that the corn was not thinned, the test is not as valuable as it might have been.

The way to get most out of the test is to take the plots having nearly the same number of stalks and compare them. For illustration, plot No. 19 has but one more stalk than plot No. 12, and as you will note, the yield is nearly double. This is a very marked difference.

Plots 1, 6, 11, 16 and 21 is of the corn that is grown on the Infirmary farm and was used as a check to get the uniformity of the ground. The average number of stalks on these plots was 584 stalks, and the average 84 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 2—Red's yellow Dent, furnished by J. Nuding, had a stand of 402 stalks, yielding 390 pounds, or 97 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 3—Yellow Jumbo, furnished by J. C. Brookhart, had a stand of 518 stalks, yielding 356 pounds, or 89 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 4—Furnished by J. C. Kruger, had a stand of 408 stalks, yielding 333 pounds, or 80 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 5—Ohio yellow Dent, furnished by Frank Birkmeyer, had a stand of 561 stalks, yielding 320 pounds, or 78 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 7—Red's yellow Dent, furnished by Sol Shook, had a stand of 565 stalks, yielding 360 lbs., or 71 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 8—Red's yellow Dent, furnished by Frank Birkmeyer, had a stand of 624 stalks, yielding 345 pounds, or 78 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 9—Furnish's yellow Dent, furnished by O. A. E. S., had a stand of 705 stalks, yielding 320 lbs., or 78 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 10—White Cox, secured at the corn show, had a stand of 441 stalks, yielding 315 pounds, or 73 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 12—Early Surprise, secured at the corn show. This plot especially showed the low vitality of some of the corn that was brought to the show, having a stand of 304 stalks, yielding 150 pounds, or only 50 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 13—Ohio yellow Dent, furnished by O. A. E. S., had a stand of 535 stalks, yielding 353 pounds, or 88 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 14—Ohio yellow Dent cross, had a stand of 450 stalks and yielded 330 pounds, or 78 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 15—White Cap, furnished by Sol Shook, had a stand of 437 stalks, yielding 300 pounds, or 64 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 17—Cook-Rid yellow Dent, had a stand of 603 stalks, yielding 330 pounds, or 72 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 18—White Cap, furnished by O. A. E. S., had a stand of 705 stalks, yielding 320 lbs., or 78 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 19—Magnis, furnished by O. A. E. S., had a stand of 577 stalks, yielding 330 pounds, or 74 bushels of marketable corn.

Plot No. 20—Baker's early, furnished by O. A. E. S., had a stand of 395 stalks, yielding 320 pounds, or 83 bushels of marketable corn.

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God in His wisdom to invade our ranks and remove from our midst our dearly beloved Sister, Lillian Fisher, yet we are resolved to bow in humble submission to the will of Him who sitteth on the White Throne, whose judgments are supreme and whose dispensation is unerring.

That we cherish her memory and inculcate her many virtues, and that we extend her grief-stricken family our heartfelt sympathy.

That our charter be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days, and that these resolutions be spread upon our minutes and a copy be presented to the family, also a publication in our local papers be solicited.

THE FLAMING ARROW

An Intensely Dramatic Play, at City Opera-House Next Monday Night.

"The Flaming Arrow," a western play by the popular author, Lincoln L. Carter, depicting life as it really was in the vicinity of Ft. Reno in the pioneer days. The story is unconventional and natural, the part of "White Eagle," the educated Indian, is a fine character drawing, and "The White Eagle," the daughter of Colonel Fremont, is a lovable and human. It is one of the best plays ever written by Mr. Carter, abounds in unusual dramatic situations and lively climaxes. The theme and situations are original and rich subjects for melodramatic complications. This attraction appears at the City Opera-house next Monday evening with the complete electric and scenic effects.

Popular prices—25, 35 and 50 cents. Seat sale at Riley's.

TRAGIC FATE OF STRANGER

Jumps from Moving Freight Train Only to Fall Beneath Wheels.

A stranger giving his name as Melvin Tucker was horribly mangled in attempting to alight from an east-bound freight train as it entered this city just before noon last Saturday, sustaining injuries that caused his death a few hours later.

Tucker was being worked at Coldwater in different capacities, and Saturday, in company with Dave Kennedy, planter, was pilfering a ride to this city. On reaching this city and finding the train would make no stop here he made an attempt to get off, and in doing so fell beneath the train, the wheels severing one leg below the knee and the other was mangled. His face was also horribly disfigured. The Alspach ambulance was summoned and the injured man removed to Dr. Wintermeyer's office, where he was given every attention until death relieved his sufferings. Tucker gave his age as 27 and stated he was unmarried. He said he had a brother living at Parkersburg, W. Va. It has developed since that the dead man has a wife and child at East Liv. Herol, this state, from whom he had been separated for some time.

His funeral took place from the Catholic Church at this place Wednesday morning and his remains laid to rest in the local cemetery.

ANGERED BY WIFE'S LEAVING

Ode Houser Flourishes Gun on a W. O. Conductor and Threatens Trouble.

Because he threatened to perforate the anatomy of Newman Meeker, of Wapakoneta, so it is alleged, Ode Houser was arrested last Friday by Marshal Weber on an affidavit filed in Justice Raudabaugh's court, charging him with assault and with pointing fire arms.

It all happened because Ode's wife, who left him some months ago, came here last week to attend her
